Nature's Recipe For Skin

{ A Culinary Tale }

our story

The Pomega5 story begins with my grandmother, an expert chef – it was her entrepreneurial spirit and knowledge of botanicals that inspired me to investigate and develop natural, plant-based treatments for my own health issues and sensitivities.

It was through a patient at my wellness clinic that I first learned about the healing powers of pomegranate seed oil and experienced the ability of this ingredient to reverse years of damage to my own skin. Working with doctors and fatty acid experts to define the unique molecule as Omega 5*, we knew we had an obligation to share this new ingredient with the world.

Drawing on my training as a nutritionist, I began to develop facial creams based on this miracle oil, sourcing the freshest botanicals to prepare each formulation as I would a sumptuous recipe. Progressing from kitchen to lab, I partnered with chemists to create the full range of Pomega5 skin recipes founded on the proven science of Omega fatty acids.

Pomega5 is my gift to you, the result of a lifelong mission to create products that are safe, honest and authentic. You'll find that the products truly speak for themselves, providing an experience – both sensory and emotional – that even I, as the creator, cannot fully convey in words.

- ✧ Formulated with a balanced combination of essential fatty acids, botanical extracts and essential oils, selected for their ability to deliver visible improvements in skin health and appearance
- ✧ No parabens, petrochemicals, fillers, or synthetics; cruelty-free
- ✧ Botanical preservative system ensures product freshness for 18 to 24 months
- ✧ A mood-altering ritual that one anticipates throughout the day, Pomega5 incorporates all of the senses, invigorating and enhancing energy levels through smell and touch

{ The Science Behind Omega 5 }

A unique essential fatty acid obtained from the seed of the pomegranate, Omega 5 is the only known botanical form of Conjugated Linolenic Acid (CLnA), also known as Punicic Acid, and one of the most potent antioxidants in the world.

Why is Omega 5 the most vital ingredient for skin?

- ⚡ Conjugated molecular structure makes it highly compatible with and easily absorbed by skin
- ⚡ Potent antioxidants deliver improvements in skin health and appearance by naturally eliminating free radicals
- ⚡ Contains a human-compatible form of phytoestrogen that supports hormonal balance and skin health
- ⚡ Channels vital nutrients such as B1, B2, C, potassium, and magnesium to nourish and regenerate skin cells
- ⚡ Supports the body's resilience against inflammation
